

How AI Can Save Recruiters 15+ Hours Per Week

Directional examples of where practical assistance and automation can release capacity.

Find relevant candidates faster.

Semantic search and rediscovery reduce time spent building new lists from scratch.

Summarise high application volumes.

AI-assisted review helps recruiters prioritise where human assessment should begin.

Draft routine recruitment content.

Create first drafts of outreach, profiles, adverts and updates for recruiter review.

Turn conversations into structured notes.

Summarisation can reduce manual documentation and improve CRM completeness.

Automate scheduling and reminders.

Integrated workflows remove repeated calendar emails and routine confirmations.

Trigger timely candidate communication.

Defined rules protect response speed without replacing sensitive recruiter conversations.

Saved time must be redirected to higher-value work.

Measure the baseline, pilot one workflow and track whether capacity improves commercial outcomes.

Book a free strategy call • consulting.theraeburngroup.com